

Catsitter wanted

Name: Samira

Breed: European shorthair

Age: 14

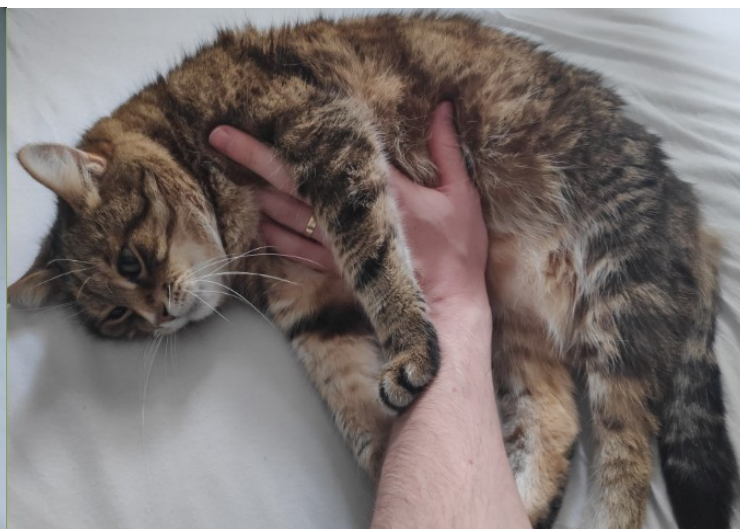

Character: Cuddly and gentle, but prone to get overstimulated.

Diagnosis: diagnosed with diabetes 3 years ago. Receives twice daily insulin injections (currently 1.5 units)

Compensation: To be discussed.

Description:

We are looking for someone with experience giving insulin injections to cats in evening and mornings. We will trial an evening and morning before going on longer holidays. We've had some limited success with a catsitter without experience in giving injections but this did not work out because Samira wants a steady hand that gets the job done quickly. Samira is an older cat but still likes to play and spend time with humans. It would certainly strengthen the bond, when somebody spends time with her and not just cover the physical needs. We have also a fully established home office that can be used when we are not here and overnight stays are also possible. Due to her age and travel anxiety she can't go to a cattery and we require twice daily visits when we are away.

Note bellyscratching is not for strangers and always at risk for scratching from her side.

Location: 1180 Vienna, Gersthof area.
